Fax Solutions Edition Fact Sheet

Get your fax straight with help from the pros.

Customizing, deploying and maintaining advanced IT solutions can be a complex undertaking. So many technical decisions need to be made, and everyone with a stake in the project seems to have different requirements. When it comes to fax systems, additional hardware and nuanced infrastructure considerations can add to the complexity. Luckily, you can connect with the industry's best and give your team additional insight and resources to get your project done right.

● Advanced technical expertise

● One-window communication

● Improved issue support

The TechConnect advantage

As the name suggests, our TechConnect Fax Solutions Edition program connects you with OpenText experts who have superior technical knowledge and experience gained from many other successful enterprise system deployments. These experts will work directly with your in-house service management and IT teams to help optimize your systems and processes, and further the achievement of your business.

What are the benefits?

You've made an investment in OpenText solutions to grow your business, lower operational costs and reduce information governance and security-related risks. OpenText TechConnect helps you get the most of that investment.

Advanced technical expertise: While your assigned technical expert works closely with your team and operates as your single point of contact for technical issues, you also have the entire OpenText technical service team ready to assist. Expect ongoing practical knowledge transfer between our teams and an improved understanding of OpenText solutions.

One-window communication: Your TechConnect Technical Lead can assist with issue and escalation management, centralized communication and reporting, and tailoring service delivery. Our Technical Leads engage in and provide proactive and preventive expert assistance.

Improved issues support and increased user satisfaction: Help your internal IT department by leveraging OpenText's support competencies. Our program is designed to proactively address risks, minimize downtime, and streamline operations to improve efficiency, accelerate your end-user adoption and allow the business to focus on just that — the business.
